

MY PET CAUXES

Following the success of early singles Twist It and Isn't It Fun, My Pet Fauxes return in 2021 with new music that refines their hook filled indie pop sound.

The 5 piece have already captured national attention with music that feels custom made for a UK festival crowd and captivating live performances to match. Despite their short history, they are no strangers to big crowds, with hundreds watching at a time in some of the finest venues. Most notably their Rock City set during DHP's Beat The Streets Festival and their sell out show at Nottingham's 'Metronome' both of which gathered attention online whilst acting as a milestone achievements for the proud Notts natives.

Nearing 200,000 Spotify streams, MPF's ability to create within indie music has resonated with local media as well as the bands growing fanbase. BBC Introducing in the East Midlands going as far as to call them "one of the finest live acts around." With new music out for the first time in nearly a year, the boys are back stronger than ever.

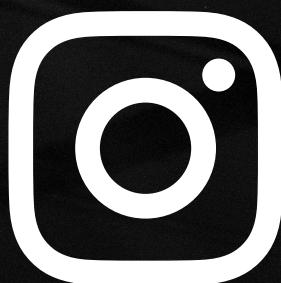

damn!

22/01/21

Our new single 'damn!' is out on January 22nd. It's a song about seeing the beauty in someone else that they may not see in themselves set to music that will make you want to let go of your insecurities and dance around your kitchen. The pop influenced vocal is set to indie guitar riffs to create an immediately catchy and radio ready track.
